under the Wholesale Bakers' Associain three-cent bread, by the publication of the signed letters of one of its members offering to bake full-weight loaves for a fraction over two cents each, the Trust is casting about for an excuse to keep up prices a little longer.

is to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It cures discase and makes you well. letter, printed in "The Evening World" A call for a meeting of the Association was sent out by Secretary Gravel with-in an hour after the publication of the news that one of the members of the Trust had offered to cut prices. There was a great scurrying around among the bread barons to get down to the meetingroom over Fleischmann's bakery Broadway and Tenth street, before clock, the time set for the meeting. For over two hours they talked about the advisability of giving up the fight, and announcing that the reduction of the advisability of giving up the fight, and announcing that the reduction of one cent on eighteen-ounce loaves would go into effect immediately.

The meeting was stormy and broke up with only one of two members of the Trust still in favor of refusing to comply with the popular demand for cheaper bread.

Following their usual policy, not one of the bakers would talk about bread after the meeting. Each looked as if he had been through a trying ordeal and hurried away.

To still further clinch the arguments offered in favor of the reduction asked for by "The Evening World," here are some more letters, one written by the agent whom Mr. Egler agreed to furnish with two-and-three-quarter cent loaves, and the reply, signed by Higo Fredericks, the Superintendent of Rockwell's big bakery on East Seventy-fifth atreet:

Dear Sir: On the 12d inst., you offered to furnish me with at least 1,000 loaves of wheat and rys bread a day at the following prices: 48, cents per lost of twesty-five conces; 18, cents a pound, this price remaining a force as losd, making a net price of 24 were it necessary, as I hope, could you sup-ply me with more than 10,000 loaves a day? Mr. Fredericks's reply follows:

NOTE .- In the Cloak and Suit Trade to-day there is a great scarcity of DESIRABLE Garments owing to the long continued strike. The financial pressure on the manufacturers is a great strain; many are closing out what remains of their stocks and g ing out of the business altogether.

We have succeeded in buying up the entire stocks of several of these manu acturers, and, in the face of a rising market, we propose to sell them at Bargain prices. Of some of the special lots we have not all sizes of each style; but in each size we have a number of attractive styles; so that every woman who visits the sale will be certain to have an excellent assortment to choose from. Moreover, we promise that every purchaser will secure the most satisfactory kind of a bargain-a stylish and perfect-fitting garment very much below the ruling prices of to-day.
